Vax launches World's Lightest Full size Multi-cyclonic Upright Vacuum

The UK's leading floorcare brand Vax has unveiled the lightest, full size multi-cyclonic upright vacuum cleaner in the world – Mach Air.

Mach Air has all the suction and performance of a powerful full size upright vacuum cleaner, without the bulkiness and weight that can make heavier machines such a drag. It weighs a third less than equivalent full size machines, with a slim, compact design that makes carrying it from room to room a breeze.

Mach Air may be slender in design, but when it comes to performance it's anything but lightweight. Powerful multi-cyclonic suction ensures consistently great dust pick-up. The air and dust sucked into the machine spins through a series of cyclones. Centrifugal force separates out the dust before it reaches the filters. Dust-free filters mean that Mach Air's suction is never compromised. And powerful, consistent suction means quicker, more efficient cleaning.

Designed with advanced cleaning technology, Mach Air has an LED Performance Indicator to quickly alert you of any blockages, so you always know how well it's performing. The brushbar can be set for cleaning either carpets or hard floors and its retractable handle can be adjusted to 8 different heights to achieve the most ergonomic position for vacuuming. Stored on board the machine is a 3-in-1 crevice tool, dusting brush and upholstery tool for tackling more specific cleaning tasks.

For homes with pets, Mach Air² has all the functionality of Mach Air, plus an anti-bacterial filter and an air-driven TurboTool for picking up stubborn pet hairs.

Mach Air is available at RRP £179.99 and Mach Air² at £199.99. Included is a market leading 6-year guarantee supported by a UK-based helpline, with trained Customer Service Advisors available to help 7 days a week.
